

3rd Party Software and Application Risk Notice

Vendors providing Trading Signals, AutoTrading, Duplicators, Copy Trading, and Mirror Trading which integrate with The Broker Mt.Cook Financial's ("Mt.Cook") platforms and technology are all classified "3rd party Software and Technology Providers" and "Vendors".

Mt.Cook account holders must understand that all inquiries with regards to these products may be deferred to the Vendors who have created these products. This includes information regarding, performance, its utility, its function, and any technical support questions or problems. All of these inquiries must be addressed to the Vendor directly. As such Mt.Cook may not be able to correctly answer questions about, or speak on behalf of the Vendor with regards to any of these topics.

Mt.Cook shall under no circumstances be liable for any losses that may arise out of the trading by any 3rd Party Vendor Products. Mt.Cook does not recommend or endorse the selection, performance, credibility, or experience of any Vendor. Therefore Mt.Cook are not making a representation either express or implied that they endorse any particular Vendor's products or services.

This responsibility lies solely with the account holder. Therefore, Mt.Cook accepts no responsibility for any losses arising out of or in any usage of 3rd party Vendors available through Mt.Cook.

Even if all reasonable efforts have been made by Mt.Cook to help ensure the Vendor provides proper performance, Mt.Cook cannot guarantee the accuracy or success of their application or performance and/or results for investors.

Past performance is not indicative of future results and no representation is being made by Mt.Cook in relation to results that may be achieved by utilizing software by any 3rd party Vendor, or that clients will or are likely to achieve profits or incur losses comparable to those that may be shown to them.

Likewise there may be various fees that need to be added to an investor's account in order to pay 3rd Party Vendors, and Technology vendors for the utilization of their products or services. These fees may be added on top of traditional fees charged by Mt.Cook or paid from existing fees.

Prior to using any 3rd party software application or Vendor including (but not limited to) Signal Providers, AutoTrading, Duplicators, Copy Trading, and Mirror Trading investors needs to carefully consider any risks including but not limited to those involved in using them in conjunction with trading intra-day rolling spot currency contracts, and contracts for difference.

Investors must be aware that as with all technology applications there are being used have unique inherent weaknesses and that often these technologies are dependent on third parties managing the connection to Mt.Cook's servers. Trading over the internet using any social/copy trading application may be disrupted resulting in bad slippages or extreme and unanticipated losses that may be in excess of client account balances. Mt.Cook accepts no responsibility for the performance of these applications whatsoever.
